THE CRY OF THE SOULS IN PURGATORY TO US

by Rev. John Evangelist Zollner, 1884

"Friend, lend me three loaves."--Luke, 11: 5

Let us then show sympathy and mercy to the souls in purgatory. Their cry to us is: "Friend," lend me three loaves." "Friend" because they are spiritually and corporally related to us, therefore, love and gratitude oblige us to succor them. "Lend" they cry out to us, because they, and the whole heavenly court, will return with interest the good we do them. "Me" they cry out to us, making known to us their great need, which is beyond expression, in order to move us to mercy and compassion. "Three loaves" they cry out, beseeching us to help them through the Sacrifice of the Mass, prayer, works of mercy and charity. Let us listen to their cry, and do what they so urgently and entreatingly ask of us. Not only to-day and during this week, but as long as we live, we should show ourselves merciful towards them, and do what we can to release them from their prison that they may enjoy the vision of God. The love and mercy shown to those poor souls will prove to be of benefit to ourselves, for the words of Christ will be accomplished in us: "Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy."--Matt 5: 7. Amen.

May the angels lead thee into Paradise; may the martyrs receive thee at thy coming, and bring thee into the holy city, Jerusalem. May the choir of angels receive thee, and with Lazarus, who once was poor, mayest thou have eternal rest.

Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord; and let perpetual light shine upon them. May they rest in peace. Amen. (Indulgence of 300 days.)
